At the Supreme Court to-day, in Criminal Sessions, B. N. W. M. Goodman objected to certain extremely rude and quite uncalled-for remarks by Mr. Francis to the effect that he (the Attorney General) was ignorant of the practice of tendering evidence. The Chief Justice said that he objected to the interruptions by counsel. If Mr. Francis had made such a remark he had no right to do so. The Chief Justice did not know the remark.

The Choo Shimbin, ignorant apparently of the great part the Shanghai Daily Press has played in the negotiations, credits Mr. Clatter with having originated the idea that Great Britain ought to obtain possession of the Kowloon Peninsula, and gives the gist of the letter addressed to Sir William Robinson, the Governor of Hongkong, in 1894. In his day the Bishopric of Victoria, Hongkong, included supervision of all Treaty port Chaplains and Episcopal Missions both in China and Japan, an area over which there are now nine Bishops at work. He was educated first in Sandhurst, and then at St. Paul's School, London, and Trinity College, Cambridge, where he took his D.D. in the sixties."

An Imperial edict dated the 10th inst. gives the Imperial consent to a memorial by Jung Hui, Senior Vice-President of the Board of War, recommending that Prince, Duke, and Nobles of the Imperial House should be sent abroad to travel and study and be entrusted to the purpose any member of the Imperial House whose ability, ambition, and devotion to his duties be sent abroad. As to the memorial proposition by the same memorialist that a Ministry of Commerce should be established at Peking the edict replies that Bureau for the management of International Trade has already been established. "Boards of Trade" or "Committees of Commerce" are already in existence in the various treaty ports and the point now should be to put energy and life into these institutions. These being a flourishing condition, it would be said that to establish a Ministry of Commerce which at the present time appears to be unnecessary. The Board of Trade is therefore to be maintained and its functions to be extended to the various treaty ports.

MARITIME CUSTOMS.

DECREES INCREASING SALARIES.
(Special Telegrams from Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, JUNE 21, 5.37 p.m.

The Imperial Decree has been issued granting an increase of pay to the Europeans in the employment of the Imperial Chinese Maritime Customs.

The full terms of the decrees are not yet known here but it is believed an increase of fifty per cent has been sanctioned.

[This is good news. It is a tardy but welcome acknowledgment of good work, faithfully performed, often under arduous, dangerous, and difficult conditions. (C.O.M.)]

REUTERS' TELEGRAMS.

(SPECIAL TO THE "CHINA MAIL.")

LONDON, June 21st, 1898.

THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.
Admiral Camara's squadron has been sighted off Cabo de Gata (Cape de Gata). It is reported in Madrid that General Sibar's expedition has landed near Santiago de Cuba.

A manifesto, signed by thirty-five provincial associations and eighteen news-papers in Catalonia, declares that immediate peace will alone prevent the ruin of Spain.

WEATHER REPORT.

The following notice is issued from the Observatory:

On the 22nd at 11.35 a. Barometric changes are slight. Pressure is near normal and highest over Japan, still moderately in excess and lowest in an area lying over the S. coast of China and extending Eastwards to the Pacific. Gradients slight for E. winds off the China coast to the Northwest of Hongkong, moderate for S.W. winds over the China Sea. Forecast: moderate S.W. and S. winds; showery.

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A STORY.

Canton, June 21.

Early a great deal of rain has fallen. On Sunday we were threatened with a typhoon, but it blew over, and gave place to a great rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning. The rain must have extended over a large part of the Province. It was very violent, and continued so long that it must have done considerable damage to the first crop of rice, which is now nearly ready.

A MIRACULOUS OCCURRENCE.

An event of a most unusual nature happened at the Viceroy's Yamen last week. During the progress of the storm, the fire-staff in front of the Yamen was set on fire by a flash of lightning, and burned with great fury. A large crowd immediately collected, and the Viceroy himself came out to witness the strange sight. Fearing the burning flag-staff might set fire to the adjacent houses, it was put down as soon as possible. The crowd, which was incited to be rowdy, was dispersed by the soldiers of the Viceroy. An accident of this kind is looked upon as a bad omen to the one concerned, and hence the stringent orders of the Viceroy to clear the streets. The Chinese reason thus, "There is no one to improve the Yamen for his misdeeds, but what man cannot do Heaven does." The burning of the flag-staff itself would be regarded as an unfortunate circumstance at any time, but when it takes place in connection with a display of the god of thunder the omen is all too evidently bad.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Word has come to Canton of the destruction by an incendiary fire, of an American Board Mission school in the Hing Ping district, on the 15th day of the fourth month. The energetic American Consul is said to have taken strong measures to ensure justice being done in the case. It is high time that the people of this country, and especially their rulers, knew that the property or person of an American or an Englishman is at least as important as that of a Frenchman or a German. The lesson must be enforced till the humblest citizen or subject can say with truth and pride, Cicero Romantus sum.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN PEKING.

Shanghai, June 17.

A telegram received from Peking yesterday announced that H. E. Jung Lu is appointed Viceroy of Chihli, the present Viceroy, H. E. Wang Wen-shan, being ordered to Peking. The present incumbent of the Board of Revenue, Peking, has been dismissed from all his offices. (N.C. Daily News.)

[H. E. Jung Lu is a Manchurian, a member of the Grand Secretariat and of the Special War Department and the Tzuangli Yamen, who was quite recently appointed Comptroller-General of the Board of Revenue and a full Grand Secretary. H. E. Wang Wen-shan, it will be remembered, was specially recommended to the Emperor by Prince Kung on his deathbed. The two Presidents of the Board of Revenue are H. E. Ching Hsin, a Manchurian, who is a member of the Tzuangli Yamen, and H. E. Wang Tung-shan, the Emperor's tutor, who is a member of the Grand Secretariat, and Grand Council, the Special War Department, and the Tzuangli Yamen. The latter appears to refer to Wang, who was having reached here that the Emperor has ordered him to retire to his home in this month. It is also reported that H. E. Wang Wen-shan, who has been dismissed from all his offices, has been ordered to retire to his home in this month. (N.C. Daily News.)]

THE PORTUGUESE MURDER TRIAL.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE SUPREME COURT.

At the Supreme Court, in Criminal Sessions, to-day, the hearing of the charge of murder against Jean de Matta Ozorio was resumed.

The following comprised the Jury: Messrs H. Smith, J. Orange, S. Hancock, M. Grose, A. F. Smith, G. de Champeaux, and J. G. Smith.

Hon. W. M. Goodman, Attorney General (instructed by Mr. H. L. Dennis, Crown Solicitor) conducted the case for the prosecution; Mr. J. J. Francis, Q.C. (instructed by Messrs Wilkinson and Grist) appeared for the defence.

Mr. Francis resumed his cross-examination of Glafira Portia.

Witnesses and she told the Magistrate that she was under the impression that the person who was struggling with her to obtain possession of the revolver from Ozorio was her husband.

When the prisoner in the habit of crying: "Sometimes, I do not know why I cry. It is a fact that without any apparent reason he used to sit down and cry. I do not know why he was crying about."

Had Francis asked you any letter during the month of May?—I do not remember from the 1st of May, but before that, yes. Shown press copy of a letter, witness stated she had received the original of the letter, but had not read it.

Had you not read it?—I did not read it. Had you not read it?—I did not read it. Had you not read it?—I did not read it.

Do you remember whether you sent any written answer to that letter?—I never replied to his letters; I sent him my own letters. I did not send any answer.

How do you know the letter put into your hands by the Attorney General was received on Tuesday?—I remember the particular day.

You said, yesterday, when you received that letter you did not read it. Do you mean you did not read it at all or did you read it carefully?—I did not read it.

Shown another letter written in pencil, witness said she had never received the letter. She knew that by looking at the commencement of the letter.

Was the prisoner continually making these utterly false accusations against you constantly asking you questions, worrying you about it?—Various times he said so.

What he constantly questioning you about it?—Yes.

The Attorney General objected to Mr. Francis putting in two letters as evidence. The documents were found in the possession of the prisoner, but were never received by Miss Portia.

The Chief Justice said the documents could be put in by the prosecution as containing admissions by the prisoner.

The following letters, between the prisoner and the witness, Glafira Portia, were put in.

"My Dearest Nima,
I loved you very much when I first met you, but I did not love you as I do now. Since this affliction has entered it, I have ceased to love you, and without love I can have no compassion. Well, you may have said that the rumors in Macao are badly founded, but that there is no foundation for them. Why? You will not die of starvation! I will know you do not suffer and have got to cause to suffer, because you have got what you sought for. If you could but think how your seducer would have tried to wreck my happiness and yours, you would have compassion on me, and I not on you because I feel at the bottom of my heart the great loss which you have sustained, an irremediable loss. If you could have had a friend who could have guided you on the right road, and not those who abandoned you, then you would not have been seduced by such a man, who has taken you away from me. How can I believe that nobody has robbed you, while all is lost? I have often read and still read your letters, to see if your tender expressions could convince me, and the more I read the less could I find anything to comfort me. I feel that I am not in your face. Is it not better to confess your inconstancy instead of sustaining and advancing a fault which will give me no hope and which time will not rectify. I could never have imagined that the seducer would have made you come to such a state of mind. I feel that I am not in your face. Is it not better to confess your inconstancy instead of sustaining and advancing a fault which will give me no hope and which time will not rectify.
